International Study Abroad

A collaborative course between UNM SA+P and UNM ISI, The Architecture of Justice, took a group of our students to Berlin this summer. Led by Professor Kristina Yu and Corey Greenfield, the group spent 4 weeks exploring the connections between design & memorialization. Blog posts written by the class can be found here.

Associate Professor Ane González Lara led a group of 11 students in an immersive Latin American Contemporary Architecture class in Chile over the summer. The group visited Santiago, Valparaíso, and Open City in order to learn about the ways Chilean architects are merging contemporary design with the uniquely challenging landscape and Chilean social schema. More information about Professor Gonzalez's class can be found here.

News + Features

Congratulations to Madie Wickstrom and Arjun Bhakta, who took second and third place in the 2017 Robert Bruce Thompson Annual Light Fixture Design Competition! Albuquerque's local NPR station, KUNM ran a story about the award winning lighting designs. Congratulations also to the instructors of the Industrial Design class, Dena Thomas Aousassau and Dana Oliveri. Read or listen to the full feature on KUNM.

UNM Community + Regional Planning Assistant Professor, Moises Gonzales, along with some of his current and former students, traveled to New York City in order to receive the 2017 American Planning Association student award. This award is given to the best "contribution to contemporary issues in planning," and distinguished UNM'S CRP program as competitive among other schools in the country. The full article can be found here.

UNM SA+P Faculty members, Katya Crawford, Kathleen Kambic, and Ane González Lara collaborated on several winning design competitions. The trio's semester project, ARTiculation took third in the reThinking Competitions: Hornachuelos Downtown Reactivation competition. Additionally, the group of Faculty members took first place for Parc Heure, their project for reThinking Competitions: What's up Paris? More about their accomplishments here.
